Avian Technology
INTERNATIONAL

Poultry Exporters to the World

SINCE 1989

Your Single-Source Supplier

Since 1989, Avian Technology International (ATI) has been a full service single-source supplier of broiler hatching eggs, vaccines, vaccinator equipment, poultry and swine production equipment, feed additives and feed mill equipment to customers worldwide.

ATI's knowledgeable and experienced bilingual staff is well-versed in international shipping requirements and will simplify the ordering process for our clients. We make it our business to understand each of our clients' individual markets.

As a leading supplier of hatching eggs, we not only sell the eggs, but also arrange for the proper documentation required by local government entities, as well as transportation to the final destination. Our handling and shipping procedures have been developed through years of experience and research and are the best in the industry, worldwide. We work through long-term contracts or spot market order fulfillment; whatever your needs dictate.

The experience of the ATI team really comes into play in helping guide our clients through the delicate and complicated process of ordering and receiving broiler hatching egg shipments. We start with top quality breeding stock, and work with you every step along the way. ATI's hatching eggs produce chicks that yield the best results and lead to a strong return in investment for our customers. From reserving stock for your annual program, through coordination of shipments, to technical support throughout the life of each flock, ATI is a partner you can count on to provide the right resources, expertise and support for your particular operation.

Count On Our Experience

At ATI, we are direct distributors of major brands of poultry production and feeding equipment, swine production equipment, as well as feed additives and feed mill equipment. Feeders, drinkers, curtains, ventilation and evaporative cooling systems, feed additives and feed mill equipment from quality manufacturers such as American Coolair, VALCO, Miller, Kemin and Essmueller are all available through us. We also provide spare parts for equipment in all areas of your operation.

We back these products with decades of industry experience. Our domestic and international sales managers, feed mill consultant, and hatchery production staff know the industry and their expertise in different markets can be invaluable to our customers.

From eggs to equipment, from the U.S. to the world, ATI is your resource for the quality products that will make your operation efficient and profitable. Count on us.
